Experience CBS Interactive - TV.com, San Francisco, CA
Lead Front-End Developer, April 2009–present
Played an integral role in the invention, design, and development of web applications and key site features. Cleaned up existing code base, ported legacy MooTools JavaScript over to jQuery. Established standards amongst the front-end developers, and helped select and evaluate new frameworks and technologies for mobile apps and the new site, and to acquire training for our team on said technologies. Also gave quarterly technology lectures on HTML5 and mobile application development.

White Whale Web Services, San Francisco, CA
Web Designer & Developer, February 2008–February 2009
Assisted in designing and building websites for White Whale's clients, and made residual designs. Worked closely with clients, attended meetings alongside the company's president, and traveled to meet and pitch our services to clients. I was afforded the great pleasure of working with high-profile clients like MIT and Berkeley Law School.

Monster Route, San Carlos, CA
In-House Designer, March 2007–February 2008
Responsible for designing, coding, and maintaining the company's primary website. Designed and oversaw the implementation of user interfaces related to the company projects. Designed trade show materials and displays. Altered and prepared files related to printed jobs for clients. Oversaw all aspects of the company's visual presentation.

Other Freelance Artist, Various Locations
Graphic Designer & Web Developer, May 2005–present
